Human Carriers Of Polio Virus, Science Believes

NEW YORK—Human beings are the spreaders of polio, scientists are beginning to believe. The shrewdest work has failed to prove anything except that other sources of polio are infected from people.

Scientists observed that in polio outbreaks the disease is spread along railroad routes, bus routes, rivers and valleys. There sometimes did not seem to be much in uplands.

Mosquitoes were suspected. Other bugs, too. Something had to be carrying it along these routes. But nothing at all was proved against insects, not even the flies, though polio virus, sometimes was found on, and inside flies.

The human chain explains easily. Polio spreads along these routes because that is where people live in the largest numbers.

Another mystery is why polio epidemics occur only in hot weather. The disease runs the year round. If hot weather alone were the explanation for epidemics, these outbreaks would be expected to last longer in the south than in the North. But they don't.

In the South the epidemics start earlier. They reach their peaks earlier. But after about two months, even though hot weather may be far from over, the southern epidemics begin to decline.

The short duration of the epidemics can be explained on the theory that human beings are the spreaders.

In two months the infection may spread to most of those who are susceptible, keeping in mind that its real spread, to the silent cases, is 200 times more than among the openly sick. The chain reaction begins then to break down from lack of enough susceptible victims.

Vegetables have been suspected because epidemics begin soon after the start of the fresh-vegetable season. Early cases are often found on farms. But no sign of polio virus has been found in vegetables.

Occasionally a polio outbreak has been traced along a milk route. But the virus has yet to be discovered in milk. All trails, except the human pathway, so far end in blind alleys.

Neighbor's 'Play by Play' Account Breaks Up Robbery

LOUISVILLE, KY. — A "play by play" description to the police switchboard of a burglary attempt on a tavern ended with arrival of police and capture of the burglars.

A neighborhood woman phoned police. "One of them just pulled out a ventilator fan and he's climbing in through the hole," she said. "Another man is just standing on the corner."

The lookout stared in disbelief when four police cars disgorged 10 patrolmen who took him into custody along with his partner in the tavern, who hadn't touched a thing yet.

British Health Service Refuses to Buy Bath Salts

LONDON, England—The British health service, which supplies free medicines, spectacles, wooden legs, hearing aids, glass eyes, false teeth and wigs, has finally called a halt. The service refuses to buy bath salts.

Neither, said the health ministry, would it honor prescriptions for smelly lotions to make mosquitoes go away.

This also applies to vanishing cream, shaving soap, tooth paste, talcum, and hair tonic.

In other words, brother, no soap. "Prescriptions for such preparation have not actually been submitted," said a ministry spokesman, "but the point was raised because there are borderline cases. A man with an itch, it might be argued with reason, needs a cake of soap."

Uncle Sam Says

A lot of folks are tempted to speculate with their money. With the farmers, however, there's enough speculation in farming itself—what with the weather, insects, plant disease, livestock sickness, and prices. For the farmers, a safe, sure way of building financial security is with U. S. Savings Bonds. Should be need extra cash his money is handy. It's always there for emergencies. So, farmers, be sure that part of your fall crop or livestock check goes into Savings Bonds. They pay $4 for every $3 invested in ten short years. This is the time to resolve—"NOW LET'S ALL BUY BONDS."

Hixburg

Hixburg, Nov. 7.- News came today of the death of Jim Marshall, a former resident of this neighborhood, who died of pneumonia in a hospital at Big Stone Gap Saturday. He leaves his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Lucy Gilliam, of Lynchburg; a sister, Mrs. Bettie Terry, of Cumberland, and Joe Watkins, a nephew, of Farmville, who attended the funeral held today in Big Stone Gap.

A large congregation attended the services Sunday morning at the Hixburg Presbyterian Church. We welcomed to worship with us many of our former members, Mrs. Alice G. Marshall, Mrs. Jeter Ligon, of Pamplin; Mrs. Lillian G. Gilliam, Mrs. Herman Glenn, Mrs. Tom Glenn, Mr. Herbert and Otis Gilliam, of Roanoke.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Glenn had as their Sunday dinner guests their relatives from Roanoke, and Dr. Twyman Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris, Evie Goin, and daughters were the week-end guests in the home of her father, Mr. Witt Goin.

Miss Staples, of Appomattox was a week-end guest of Katie and Rachel Goin.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Guild spent Sunday with the Percy Sears'.

Mrs. S. G. Reynolds, of Richmond returned home Sunday afternoon, after a visit with her sisters, Mrs. B. Grinstead and Mrs. J. R. Marshall.

Mrs. Annie Earle (Annie Hix) passed away at her home in Texas, after a long illness. Her daughter, Emma Earle, a home economics teacher in Richmond, was called home last Tuesday. Mrs. Earle was formerly a neighborhood girl, a sister of Miss Magg, Wilson, William and Carsie Hix, Mrs. Flossie Erwin and Sears Hix, of N. C.

Mrs. G. G. Reynolds, Mrs. J. R. Marshall and C. B. Carson called in the home of the Singleton's at Darlington Heights Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Otis Gilliam and Mr. Enoch Roberts were callers last week in the Marshall home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Carson and family spent the week-end in the home of her parents, the J. R. Marshall's.

Dr. Twyman Williams used for his subject Sunday morning in the Hixburg Presbyterian Church, "The Three Marks of a Christian." The sermon was frought with searching personal questions.

WHAT'S YOUR WASHDAY WORRY?

IT'S a heartbreaking thing—maybe it's happened to you . . . you've lugged a heavy basket of damp clothes out to the clothesline . . . you pin up the clothes . . . and then, when you're almost finished . . . the clothesline breaks and down go your clothes! Or— if you're lucky enough to have sunny weather for drying, someone may start burning trash or beating rugs a few doors away—and your clothes are ready for the washer again. Or the kids start playing in-and-out among the sheets and towels!

You don't have to worry about such things—or the weather—when you have an ELECTRIC CLOTHES DRYER. It saves time, temper, trouble and clothes. And when you see how big a help an electric clothes dryer can be, you'll say it's well worth the reasonable cost . . . and the electricity to run it costs so little!
